Special Edition – Learning Remotely Term 2 Week 5

Congratulations to all our students on the work they have been completing this term. Thank you to all the parents and carers who have supported our students to continue to do their best at this time. It has been a juggle for us all and very aware of the shifting of work ties to make it all happen.

I have enjoyed the different work that our students are completing at home. I love how some students are taking this opportunity to explore other interests as well.

Please enjoy a snapshot of some of our wonderful work from over the past two weeks.

Jellyfish

Diet:
Jellyfish eat fish, shrimp, crabs, tiny plants and even other species of jellyfish!

Habitat:
Jellyfish live in oceans all over the world. They can live in warm, cold, shallow and deep water!

Fun facts:
Some fun facts about jellyfish are:

- Jellyfish pooh and eat from their mouth!
- Some jellyfish glow! (bioluminescent)
- Jellyfish have been around longer than dinosaurs!
- Jellyfish have no brain, bones, heart or eyes!

I know definitely that my Mum will love this cake that I made and I decorated it with my Mums favourite sweet M&M's and it took a lot of effort :D

~Prologue~

The full moon shone vividly through the patch in the swaying treetops, casting dancing shadows across the quiet forest floor. In a bed of moss lay a faintly glowing egg, illuminating the leaves and mud around it.

The egg was an alarming yellow, streaked with white lightning bolt patterns that shone silver in the dappled moonlight. A few sleepy monkeys tapped the shell, hoping the glow would turn off so they could go back to sleep.

A little tremor went through the egg, and it started to glow a little brighter. The monkeys, now annoyed, grabbed some large leaves and draped them over the egg to block out the light. Apparently satisfied, then climbed up the nearest tree to get some sleep.

A few heartbeats later, a little crackle of lightning went off from the egg, scorching the leaves and turning them to ashes. This maddened the monkeys and sent them hooting down the trees to the egg. One started banging on the egg, babbling like it was telling it off for being naughty.

Zip....crackle....zap....

As the monkey jumped back with a hoot, holding his zapped hand out, the rest ran back up to the safety of the trees, watching with wide, scared eyes. A glowing crack had appeared in the egg...

Mrrrrrk?

The egg splintered a little, and a claw poked out, letting the little dragon poke her eye through the hole and take her first glance at the world outside. It was dark, it was cold, and there was no family.

Mommy???

Where is mommy!!!

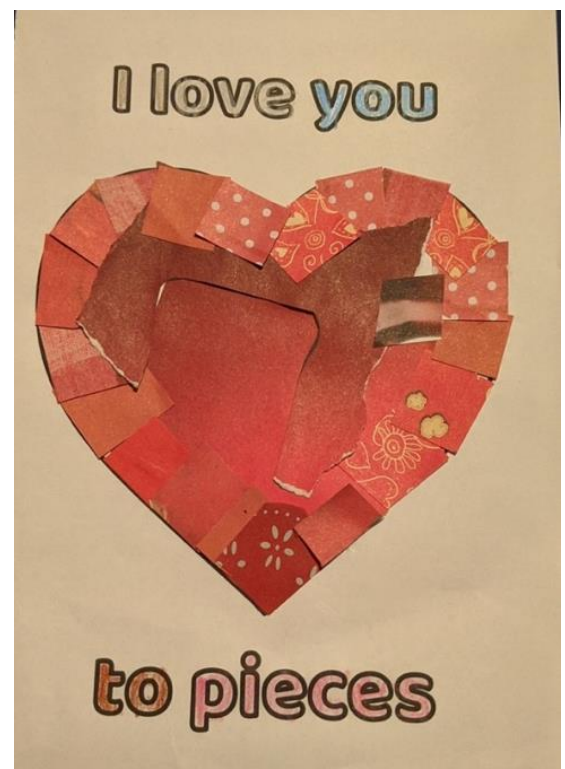

She noticed next to the egg was a roll of paper, deliberately tucked into the nest out of reach of rain. Curious, she narrowed her eyes on it, and realized there was something written on it. She pressed against the fragile walls, hoping to get a closer look.

CRACK

The eggshell splintered around her and fell apart around her, sending little pieces flying everywhere. A little dazed, she clambered over to the scrap of paper and eased it out of it's groove. On it was a note from her parents, though the little dragon had no idea what it said, there was one word, clear as day, that blazed like lightning...

Firefly...

She wasn't sure how she knew, but she was sure it was her name. The rest of the note, to Firefly, was as clear as smoke on a foggy day. She nestled down into the nest with the note in her claws. A few minutes old, and Firefly knew only her name, that she was abandoned, and that the world was a dark, cold place....

OWLS GOING CRAZY!

This week on the news there are owls that are flying across the sky BUT AT DAY TIME!

Experts don't know what's going on with this owl craziness but we do know that this is crazy!

The reason this is so crazy is because owls are nocturnal which means that they sleep at the day not the night and are wide awake at night time that's why this is so crazy. We have also had reports on shooting stars Experts don't know what's going on with this it's weird because there's not only owls flying at day time there is shooting stars! Anyway that's it for news today I'm Guggle muggle and I will see you next time on news.

Heidelberg school, Style and Influence

The Heidelberg school is a name made up by the American art critic, Sidney Dickinson. It was not an actual school. The name, the Heidelberg School, was based on the two summers that artists Streeton, Conder and Roberts spent in a farmhouse at Heidelberg painting the surrounding landscape in the early 1890's. Tom Roberts was a leading member of the art style that the Heidelberg school refers to. The style that the Heidelberg school was known for is called 'Australian Impressionism' and is famous for its landscape painting. The term 'Heidelberg School' now includes all 19th century impressionist painters in Australia.

If I was designing the elves
 new stronghold ^{the name} ~~the name~~ would be: Acrunio. I like that name because it sounds peaceful.
 It will be situated in the middle of a giant Stonehenge.
 But not to be confused with the real Stonehenge which sheltered them from many winds and the stones of the circle protected them from enomagoric (enormous and gigantic) fires
 that were twice the size of their village. It will be like a series of small, mossy stone brick houses with some flower beds and ponds.

Jelly fish facts

Jellyfish range from 1mm
 to 2m in diameter.
 They can weigh up to 200kg.
 Most jellyfish are carnivorous. They eat fish
 eggs and other jellyfish.
 They mostly live in sea water.

Dear Aurora,

I have been building some stuff with lego and magnet shapes. I have also been practicing my maths and much more. Now it does look like you have grown.

Luigi Finds Underpants
One day Luigi was out on a walk. Soon enough he found a very deep hole. He thought he would jump into it. And so he did. Then he thought about how he would get out again. But it was too late.

He also found himself underground! He had no idea what to do. Until he found fresh in front of him. "Hello!" said Luigi, sounding confused. "I wandered back here. There came in Luigi. There was Luigi lying there as well in confusion. Sons heard a loud thing so he ran in too.

And there he saw Luigi lying there. Confused.

And then Luigi came in and was like. "Hello!" Suddenly, Luigi felt hungry. He looked around for no reason and then saw a bowl.

He then ran into a room he had never seen, ever. But found CHICKEN! He smashed into it with his face. Not caring a bit.

1 Cool fact:

Corals are closely related to jelly fish.

Lions mane jelly fish

Five facts

- A jelly fish's body is called a bell.
- They have in brain.
- They have sections of their body called lobes.
- They have 100 tentacles in a lobe.
- They also have no eyes, bones or heart.

NEWS REPORT:

Today's story for the news is Owls are acting very strange. Looks like we're going to have a lot of showers of Owls today. The owls are all surrounding one house which is very weird for owls because they normally just stick around the trees and watch other people. But today they're sticking around houses. You know who is now Dead and Wizards are showing them selves to the muggle world but are they using magic they will go to see the ministry of magic to see if they were using magic or not. If you go to the ministry you might find out.
